For little riders

- THE TRAFFIC PLAYGROUND

Copenhagen is a city designed for cyclists – so naturally it has a playground for junior cyclists where they can learn about road safety. Located in Fælledparken, the playground features traffic lights, road signs, road markers, bike paths, petrol stations, and much more. Children can have a go at a pedal or running bicycle, while the smaller kids can try three-wheeled bikes at their own mini-course. Rental bikes and helmets are free of charge for children between 2 and 8 years old (max 130 cm). The staff at The Children's Traffic Playground can help teach children how to cycle, there's also a playground with a slide, sandbox, swings, jungle gym and an open shed where you can enjoy your lunch as well as toilets.

For adventure seekers

- COPENHILL

With a distinctive lack of mountains, Denmark is not known for skiing. However, you can both ski and sled in the middle of Copenhagen on the impressive "CopenHill", an artificial ski slope and recreational hiking area built on top of a waste management centre in the Copenhagen harbor. Non-skiers can also walk the winding trail that goes to the top of the roof or take one of the world's highest climbing wall – a total of 85 metres – designed for certified climbers. We can also recommend opting for the elevator to the CopenHill rooftop cafe for those who simply want to enjoy the view, overlooking all of Copenhagen and even the crossing to nearby Sweden.
